Dear all,

Lately there has been an increased "page cannot be displayed" errors. This appears to be the result of increased memory consumption, causing the scripts displaying the forum posts to end prematurely.

I believe that there may be a simple fix to this, and I will be experimenting it this weekend. Until then, please be patient whenever you encounter a "page cannot be displayed error" in putraheights.com

Thank you for your patience.

Update: Changes have been made, and although it appears not to completely resolve this issue, the error is now seem less likely to happen.
